Programme Introduction

UCFB's unique MSc International Sport Management provides an unparalleled educational and experiential opportunity for aspiring sports leaders. This pioneering programme has been developed as a transformational journey suited for graduates of all disciplines, as well as for current professionals working within various sectors of the sports industry, for example in management, marketing or operations.

As a capstone to the MSc International Sport Management degree, students may have an opportunity to specialise their academic experience by undertaking a research project with a sports organisation, leveraging UCFB's global network of contacts with leading companies such as The Football Association, BBC Sport, the US Tennis Association, the Rugby Football League, as well as a multitude of football and sporting clubs both domestically and overseas. MSc students are also encouraged to apply for short term work-related learning, internships and projects via the dedicated UCFB Employability and Enrichment team.

Distinguishing Features of the Programme

This award would be the first choice for students who have a specific interest in working senior management positions within the core functional departments of the global sport management industry, spanning business development, marketing, finance, operations and media. UCFB is able to draw on a range of first-class partners and on the goodwill of other institutions to secure the services of leading academics and authorities in this industry to support the programme and the core curriculum teaching staff.

The core management modules provide students with functional business management and administrative knowledge that will support employability upon graduation. Students will also receive advice and guidance on how they can follow up specific elements of the programme in applications for employment.

The core academic curriculum is directly related to the student tuition fees. The Complementary Curriculum is an 'added value' provision to the paid element of the degree programme. Opportunities to increase employability will be provided through masterclasses, industry workshops, and the Executive Guest Speaker Programme. The Executive Guest Speaker programme is designed to expose students to career insights from successful industry professionals and to provide students with networking opportunities. This balanced and tailored approach to learning enhancement provides an award that is fit for purpose.

The key distinguishing feature of the MSc International Sport Management is the opportunity to re-inforce the taught modules' content with actual International experience. MSc International Sport Management students spend 3 months in Spain, living and working with, and amongst, a key sporting organisation. They will also study with an International partner and if successful, will achieve a Diploma in Sport Management. This will be awarded by a key European educational institution. Students are also expected to complete a research project/dissertation which has strong international relevance and focus. Unique taught modules also include significant content which is aimed at preparing the student for working in an international environment at strategic level. Students are fully encouraged to take advantage of UCFB's comprehensive and fully exploitable network of contacts. These contacts represent the top echelons of the sports industry are also involved in UCFB's Complementary Curriculum (CC). Weekly CC events offer unrivalled opportunities and access for students to learn from top industry professionals and practitioners.

Distinguishing Features

- Professional sport business environment in two world class stadia campus locations
- Industry guest lecturers and wider networking opportunities
- Unique Complementary Curriculum to enhance learning and understanding
- Dedicated Employability & Enrichment team for opportunities to apply for unique work experiences and internships

Admission Requirements

The programme seeks to recruit students from diverse educational and social backgrounds who demonstrate both the ability and motivation to benefit from the programme. The programme welcomes applications from those with a wide variety of educational qualifications and will consider on merit applicants with no formal qualifications.

The standard entry requirements for the programme are as follows:

- Entry qualifications (GCSE's, A' Levels etc.)
Applicants should hold a 2:1 honours degree or a recognised overseas equivalent.
Applicants may be accepted with a 2:2 honours degree (or equivalent) provided that they can otherwise demonstrate a strong profile with 50% or above in their dissertation module.
- Non-academic entry requirements (interview, portfolio, audition)

An Assessment Day will be used for applicants who demonstrate potential but do not meet the minimum offer requirements. The Assessment Day comprises a Literacy test, Numeracy test and an academic lead interview.

All applicants will be provided with an opportunity at the Assessment Day to meet and discuss their suitability for the programme with the academic team. All applicants are also provided with information relating to student services, with whom they can make contact, should they require additional support or advice as well as information related to appropriate bursaries and funds.

- UCAS points

N/A

- IELTS

Applicants from non-majority English speaking countries will be asked for a English qualification which tests Speaking, Listening, Reading and Writing and will be asked to achieve IELTS 6.5 overall.

In cases where an applicant does not require a Tier-4 visa, equivalent English tests may be accepted.

- Knowledge and Skills

Applicants should demonstrate a clear interest in their chosen subject and be able to rationalise clearly why they have selected this programme of study along with an ability to study and thrive in an academic environment. This will be assessed primarily through their personal statement and reference and may be explored further through an interview (if required).

Employability Statement / Career Prospects

The specificity of sport, with its high media coverage and numerous stakeholders, requires managers to have uniquely honed business skills and an in-depth knowledge of the principles of sport management. The programme has been developed for those with aspirations towards senior management positions within the core functional departments of the sport management industry, spanning business development, marketing, finance, operations and media. The international elements of this degree provide students with the skills and experience to progress and work either domestically or abroad in a multi-billion-pound global industry.

UCFB's unique personal development programme monitors each student throughout the programme. It means we get to know each student's needs and expectations. This ties in with students' career development, ultimately leading to them finding the right place in the football and sport business.

Learning, Teaching and Assessment Methods to achieve the Programme Learning Outcomes

How will students learn

Being taught in a working international sports environment presents several opportunities for students to reflect on the material covered in lectures and seminars. Using a variety of teaching and learning methods ensures that students develop the necessary skills to take up a management role in the international sports industry.

The leadership and influence module teaches students through self-reflection by considering what makes an effective leader, while modules in marketing, event management, finance and law prepare students to be able to make strategic decisions in corporate strategy. The final dissertation allows students to tackle a contemporary issue in sports management based on an existing organisation or sporting body.

How will students be assessed

The assessment strategy for the MSc at UCFB addresses the key learning outcomes. On successful completion of the MSc, candidates will experience a broad range of assessment techniques that are aimed at testing learning and ensuring that they graduate as competent managers that are ready for the marketplace.

In two modules, formative assessments have been included in order to test learning and establish the current level of understanding of a subject. There are a number of reports to be submitted and the final assessment is the dissertation, where students have to submit a 15,000 word thesis on a subject agree with their tutors. The aim of the dissertation is for students to choose a topic that builds on existing skills but that will also enhance their chances of securing employment when they graduate. The dissertation process will be monitored closely to ensure that students take advantage of this opportunity and in some cases UCFB will identify potential dissertation topics.

The range of assessments used include seminar contributions where the students are encouraged to prepare and present material in their seminars on a weekly basis and reflect on this process through a portfolio. To encourage team working skills there are group presentations where the group will receive a group mark.

It is important to ensure that there is academic rigour at Level 7 and a number of modules are tested through a final exam

SECTION E: FURTHER INFORMATION

Reference Points

The following reference points were used when designing the programme:

- QAA Subject Benchmark Statement for Master's Degree in Business and Management (January 2015)
- QAA Framework for Higher Education Qualifications (2014)
- University Academic Qualifications Framework
- Recommendation and feedback from external subject academic and industry professional

Annual Review and Monitoring

This programme will be monitored annually through the University's Programme Review and Enhancement process, which is a continual cycle of review and enhancement. This process is supported by both the periodic review of departments and the periodic re-approval process for individual programmes. All processes are completed in consultation with students via the Students' Union or student representatives.

Student Voice Feedback

All students will be provided with the opportunity to provide feedback to UCFB on a regular basis. This includes feedback formally via the programme representative who meets with the programme leader on a monthly basis. The programme representative also attends the student council meeting which takes place every 6 weeks, chaired by the Assistant Head of the Campus to raise and discuss concerns of the student cohort. There are also opportunities informally to provide feedback, through students' personal tutors, with whom students can meet on a weekly basis or through their module leaders.

The re-approval of this programme is scheduled for academic year: 2021-2022
